

ABSTRACT

A network connection apparatus comprising a first interface unit 5 including at least one physical layer for connecting to an external network, a second interface unit 6 including plural physical layers for connecting to an internal network, and a controller 2 for controlling the first interface unit 5 and second interface unit 6, in which the controller 2 transmits and receives information between the first interface unit 5 and second interface unit 6, and between the second interfaces unit 6.

002011 20880760